

THANKSGIVING -- VIETNAM

This year U.S. servicemen in Vietnam join in unity of spirit with their fellow countrymen at home and wherever else in the world they may be, to continue a beloved tradition which goes back to the very founding of the nation.

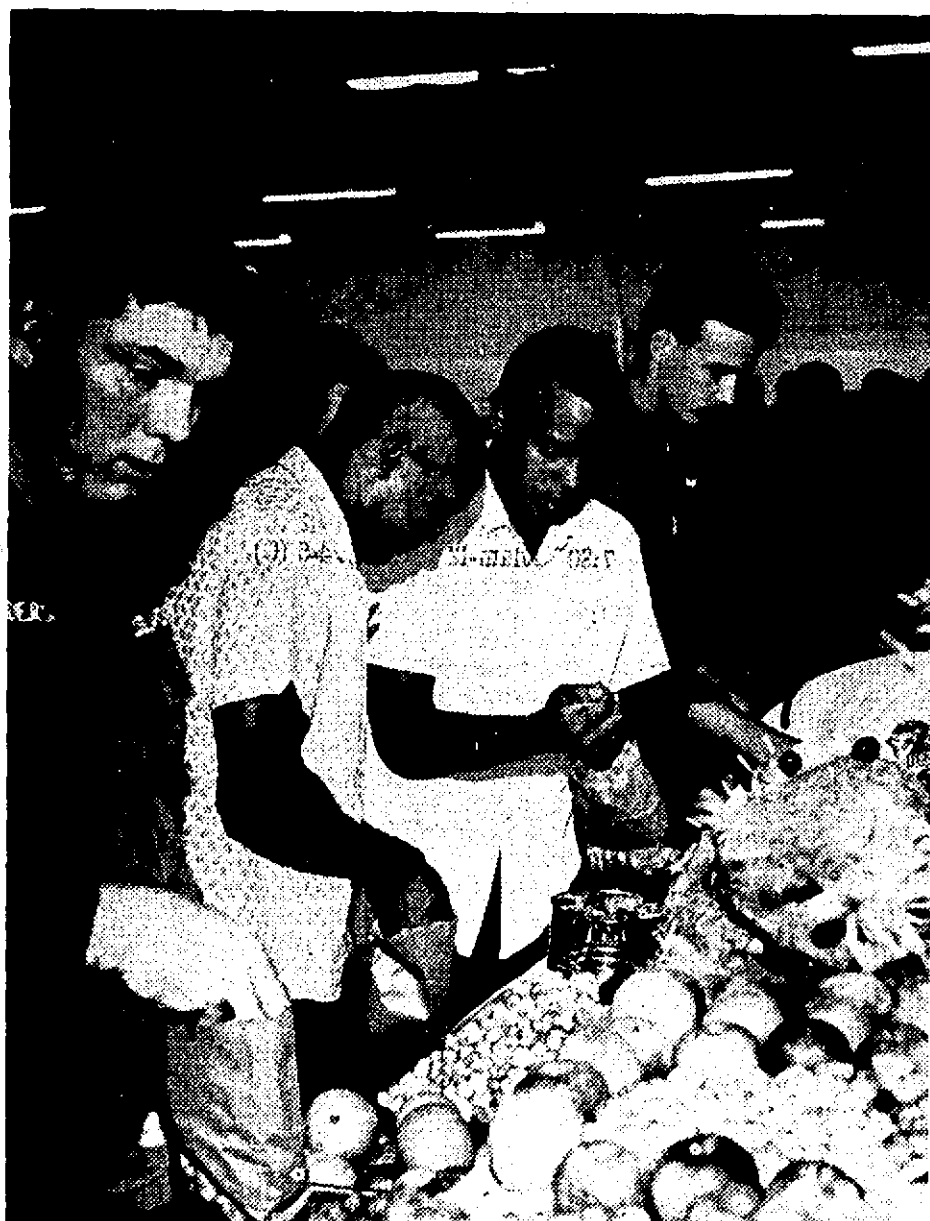

In 1621, Pilgrim families and friends gathered for thanksgiving, games and feasting at Plymouth, Massachusetts. Then, in 1863, the first national Thanksgiving was proclaimed by President Lincoln with these words:

"Because of the many blessings bestowed on America, it has seemed to me fit and proper that they should be solemnly, reverently and gratefully acknowledged as with one heart and one voice by the whole American people. I do, therefore, invite my fellow citizens in every part of the United States and also those who are at sea and those who are sojourning in foreign lands to set apart and observe the last Thursday of November next as a day of Thanksgiving."

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

TWO POEMS, ONE FROM HERE, ONE FROM THERE
Dear Helen: Maybe your readers might like to read this poem I V CAME ACROSS RECENTLY:

THEY
They say we're wild, they say we're crazy,
They say we're spoiled, they say we're lazy,
They say we've no ambition, no will to get ahead,
They say all we want to do is lie in bed.
They say we're stubborn and have no feelings,
And that when they refuse us, we hit the ceiling.
They say that we don't really care
As long as they let us go out somewhere.
They say we don't know the importance of money,
And that we think life is all sugar and honey.
They think we are hippies,

dropouts, jokers,
Draft card burners, marijuana smokers.
They don't understand us, and they don't know why.
Well, maybe it's because they don't really try.
Maybe they never told us, when we were young
The importance of being true and strong.
Maybe we thought they didn't care
When they'd never took time out

To see what our problems were all about.
But if you'd look you'd probably see,
That we're not as bad as we're said to be.
You'd see we have problems the same as you,
And we need some help to pull us through—BETTIE
And here's another—from over there:
THE GREAT MAN
I want to tell you a story about a great man. If at first you don't think him great, read on and you'll understand.
"We've been about five miles ahead!" Joe? My feet are dead!"
"No kid, not five miles, but two instead."
Then a booby trap that the point man didn't see—a Chi-Chi grenade with a tripwire to a tree.
The 18-year-old trustfully walking forward, looking all around ... A sudden explosion and three men hit the ground.
The radioman is up on the frequency, calling a medevac. The 18-year-old tells the corpsman, "Doc, I don't think I'll make it back."
"I don't think I'll ever see my homeland. You know doc, my Dad always called me 'boy,' he never called me a man."
The corpsman working diligently, doing his very best. Then the 18-year-old whispers, "Doc go look after the rest."
America's hardest fighting men stand there in a daze. Each with a tear in his eye, as under his breath he prays.
You ask me who he is, I'll tell you, but not his name. He's your son or the kid next door; he's the great man who never gained fame.
He's the boy that is too young to vote in his own country, and the man who died to help keep it free?—JOHN R. CAMPBELL

Make Sense of Scents
In this age of scented everything, make sure that the numerous fragrances you're wearing—scented deodorant, hand cream, skin lotion, make-up, hair spray and perfume—don't clash. Musk and floral scents don't go together. Use your judgment to make sense out of scents.

Removal by Wax Is Best
Face hair is best removed by waxing. Bleaching only makes it more noticeable and doesn't last as long. Waxing seals off hair growth at the roots—but because the face is so sensitive, it's best to have this done professionally. The process should last for about six months. Ask your beautician.

Double-Duty Cork Wall
For a den or teen-ager's room, why not cork one entire wall? It makes a great bulletin board or a tremendous backdrop for art and flowers.

FASHION IN THE NEWS At Home on the Night Before Christmas

Here's an imprint in fashion for the family at Christmas time. Mom in her long floral robe by Allendale, dad in his printed stripe robe by Pleetway and daughter in her Tom Girl "love apple" print robe and matching gown.

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Trimming the Christmas tree is always fun for the family—especially when dressed attractively but comfortably for the occasion. And what could fit the bill better than printed robes and pajamas?

Robes and pajamas once were relegated to the bedroom. But new styling and printed fabrics now give them entry to every room in the house.

For women, many of these ensembles are used for home entertaining as well as for sleepwear.

Wide-legged jumpsuits, long, flowing robes and even one-piece solid pajamas with long, wrap-around skirts of

Menswear, which has really come alive in every category, has not neglected the bathrobe-pajama scene.

Plaids have always been the old standby. But now robes come in geometric, stripes and Paisley prints.

Children's wear has started a revolution, too. Little girls are enjoying the same choices as their mothers—quilted patchwork prints, florals, jungle prints and even moon patterns.

"It's a fashionable idea to give a robe or pajamas as a Christmas gift, too.

It will be appreciated because at-home and bedroom dress has now become as important as streetwear."

FOOD FOR AMERICANS Heirloom Recipes For the Jet Age

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Nutrition Columnist

She is zestful, just 60, a true Vermonter, one who won't settle for raising African violets and taffy. She demands a piece of the action.

Despite the fact that she has raised a daughter and three sons and has 13 grandchildren, a few years ago she enrolled in a writing course at Lebanon College. So that was Beatrice Vaughan's start in her "second life."

From a comfortable farm house on a dirt road in East Thetford, Vt., Beatrice

Vaughan researches the food side of history. She visits country auctions, neighbors' attics, the Dartmouth College library, old book stores, any place where there might be ancient cookbooks or papers or letters containing antique recipes. Then she spends long hours translating and testing these heirloom recipes for jet-age taste. 10:15	"The festive dinner always starts with turkey, of course. A big one to feed all the relatives. Then there is a roast of pork and many folks always serve a chicken pie, too. But the pie is a genuine old-fashioned chicken pie, meat from a plump fowl, strong chicken stock and wonderful pastry. No carrots, celery, pea or mushrooms in our Vermont version."

This Week's PICTURE SHOW—AP Newsfeatures.

This year U.S. servicemen in Vietnam join in unity of spirit with their fellow countrymen at home and wherever else in the world they may be, to continue a beloved tradition which goes back to the very founding of the nation.

In 1621, Pilgrim families and friends gathered for thanksgiving, games and feasting at Plymouth, Massachusetts. Then, in 1863, the first national Thanksgiving was proclaimed by President Lincoln with these words:

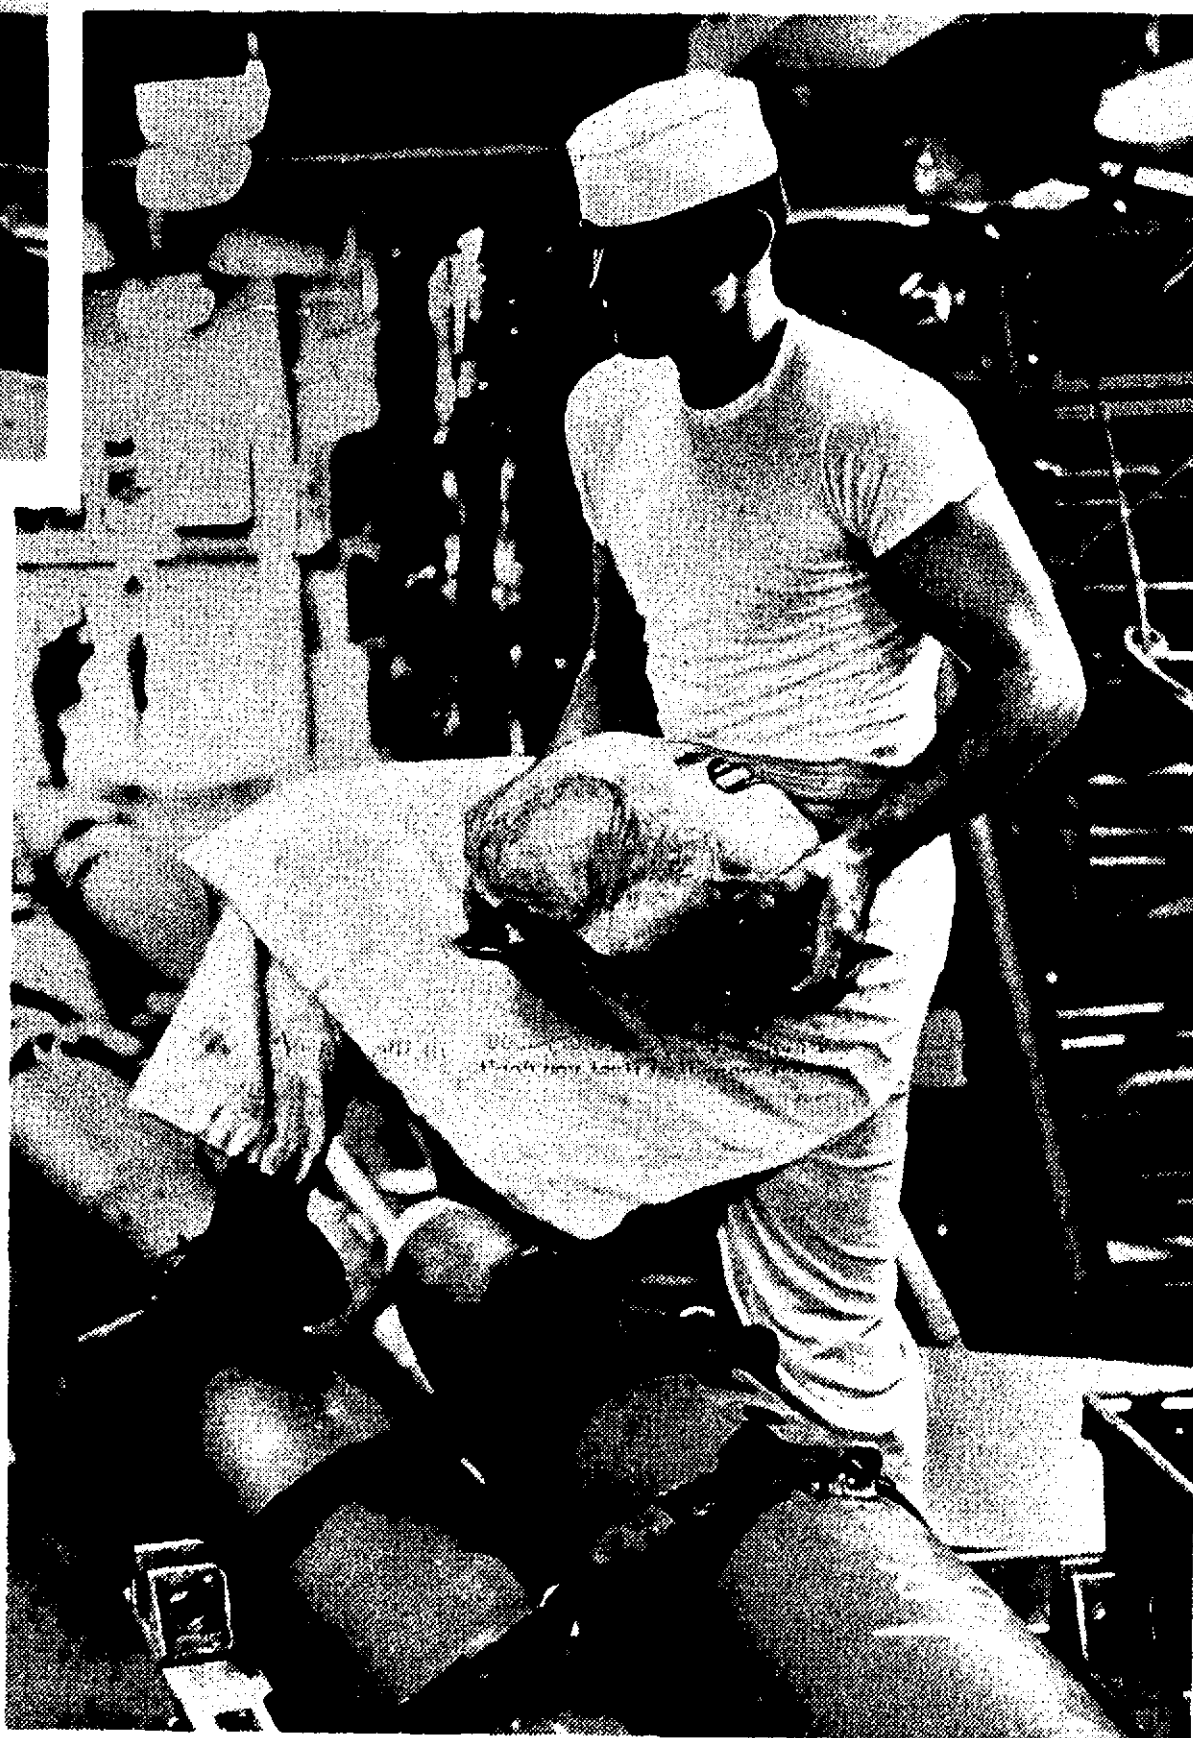

"Because of the many blessings bestowed on America, it has seemed to me fit and proper that they should be solemnly, reverently and gratefully acknowledged as with one heart and one voice by the whole American people. I do, therefore, invite my fellow citizens in every part of the United States and also those who are at sea and those who are sojourning in foreign lands to set apart and observe the last Thursday of November next as a day of Thanksgiving."

FASHION IN THE NEWS At Home on the Night Before Christmas

Here's an imprint in fashion for the family at Christmas time. Mom in her long floral robe by Allendale, dad in his printed stripe robe by Pleetway and daughter in her Tom Girl "love apple" print robe and matching gown.

By HELEN HENNESSY

NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Trimming the Christmas tree is always fun for the family—especially when dressed attractively but comfortably for the occasion. And what could fit the bill better than printed robes and pajamas?

Robes and pajamas once were relegated to the bedroom. But new styling and printed fabrics now give them entry to every room in the house.

For women, many of these ensembles are used for home entertaining as well as for sleepwear.

Wide-legged jumpsuits, long, flowing robes and even one-piece solid pajamas with long, wrap-around skirts of fer a different look.

Menswear, which has really come alive in every category, has not neglected the bathrobe-pajama scene.

Plaids have always been the old standby. But now robes come in geometric, stripes and Paisley prints.

Children's wear has started a revolution, too. Little girls are enjoying the same choices as their mothers—quilted patchwork prints, florals, jungle prints and even moon patterns.

It's a fashionable idea to give a robe or pajamas as a Christmas gift, too.

It will be appreciated because at-home and bedroom dress has now become as important as streetwear.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS Heirloom Recipes For the Jet Age

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Nutrition Columnist

She is zestful, just 60, a true Vermont, one who won't settle for raising African violets and taffy. She demands a piece of the action.

Despite the fact that she has raised a daughter and three sons and has 13 grandchildren, a few years ago she enrolled in a writing course at Lebanon College. So that was Beatrice Vaughan's start in her "second life."

From a comfortable farm house on a dirt road in East Thetford, Vt., Beatrice

Vaughan researches the food side of history. She visits country auctions, neighbors' attics, the Dartmouth College library, old book stores, any place where there might be antique cookbooks or papers or letters containing antique recipes. Then she spends long hours translating and testing these heirloom recipes for jet-age taste. To date she has written—"The Old Cook's Almanac," "Yankee Hill-Country Cooking," "Store Cheese Cooking," "Yankee Apple Cooking," and her recent "Real Old-Time

Yankee Maple Cooking	all published by the Stephen Greene Press, Brattleboro, Vt.
We asked her about Thanksgiving in Vermont.	"It is always a great holiday around this part of the country. I don't think it has changed in a hundred years. It's the last holiday before the snows set in and people love to travel to visit their relatives. Many housewives start planning months before, making jams and jellies, pickles and mincemeat for the Thanksgiving dinner," she says, adding:
"The festive dinner always starts with turkey, of course. A big one to feed all the relatives. Then there is a roast of pork and many folks always serve a chicken pie, too. But the pie is a genuine old-fashioned chicken pie, meat from a plump fowl, strong chicken stock and wonderful pastry. No carrots, celery, pea or mushrooms in our Vermont version."
Her menu, like most of the women around here, includes fresh cranberry sauce, bowls of gravy, mountains of mashed potatoes, mashed Hubbard squash, creamed boiled onions, jams and jellies and lots of different pickles.
"Always yeast-raised biscuits made with sour cream. And for dessert, pies—oh, many different kinds, and Vermont cheese. Vermont is pie country, remember," she reminds us.

Hope Bobcats Slam Badgers Out of Undefeated Season; Playoff Game Wednesday

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Champions. The Hope Bobcats slammed the Arkadelphia Badgers 14-7 for the 4-AA West title last night at Henderson Stadium in Arkadelphia to ruin the Badgers' perfect season on their homecoming.

And Hope will host the Camden Panthers at Hammond Stadium on Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m., and the big 4-AA trophy will be the prize. The Bobcats are now 10-2 through the regular season, while Arkadelphia falls to 10-1 with no consolation.

It took a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns to achieve the comeback upset before about 7,000 fans, but when midnight struck Arkadelphia couldn't react to the tight situation. And they lost.

Artis Martin, who had an unbelievable 205 yards rushing on 23 carries, left everybody gaping with a 79-yard scoring burst to start the final period. That one put Hope on the board after trailing 7-0 at halftime, but the Bobcats missed plenty of opportunities before then.

Both teams traded fumbles in the opening series, and the ball stayed mainly between the 30-yard lines. Hope only got one first down in the first segment, as the defenses controlled play and the Bobcats kept a field-position edge with a better kicking game.

Bobcat linebacker Larry McWilliams intercepted a Bill Vining pass and returned 17 yards to the Badger 43, and after a punt Arkadelphia took over back at its own nine-yard stripe. Held at the 22, though, the Badgers got only a 23-yard punt from end Bill Hurley, and Hope was on its way.

From the 45, Martin ran three times for a first down at the 32, and after another first at the 21 Artis ran 11 yards to the Badger nine. A clipping penalty moved it back to the 34, though, and set up a 2nd and 23.

Now Massanelli lateraled to Martin for the halfback pass, but flanker Roger Newton couldn't quite grasp the perfect throw in the end zone. On third down, though, Massanelli fired 24 yards to Lee Davis at the ten, making a first and goal.

This was early in the second quarter, but on the next play Arkadelphia linebacker Wayne Anderson blind-sided Massanelli in the backfield and the Badgers covered the resulting fumble at the 20.

Once again the Hope defense forced a punt, but this time Martin fumbled the kick and Arkadelphia got it at the Bobcat 42-yard stripe. The running of backs Gary Anderson and Nolan Smith netted one first down, but a ten-yard buck by Carlos Murch made it first and goal at the four.

Two plays later Murch dived over for the initial score, with 3:53 left in the half. Hurley missed his first PAT, but a Hope penalty gave him a second chance at 7-0.

Moments later Badger safety Adlai Johnson intercepted Massanelli pass at the Hope 45, but the Cats retaliated when halfback Randy Still picked off a flat pass and flew 28 yards to the Arkadelphia 47.

As the half closed Hope drove toward the goal, advancing on a 12-yard sweep by Martin and a Massanelli-to-Still pass of 16 yards to the Badger 14. On second down, though, Martin bobbled it again and Arkadelphia recovered to hold the 7-0 half-time edge.

Known as a second-half ball-club, Arkadelphia took the third-quarter kickoff and moved well. They consumed over six minutes while driving on Vining's passes to end Robert Sanders and Anderson's running, and many expected the Badgers to roll on relentlessly. They didn't.

With the home crowd cheering on, Vining and his offense went for a 4th and four from the Hope 22 with 5:45 left in the third frame. Scatback Luther Gunn took a quick pitch, but Bobcat Ray Wheelington came up from his halfback spot and nailed Gunn for a seven-yard loss to turn the ball over.

Hope needed some momentum, and Artis Martin supplied it with a 48-yard beauty of a run down the middle of the field. He was caught at the Badger 26, and four plays later he was stopped short of first-down yardage on a fourth-down try at the 17.

That put Arkadelphia back in the driver's seat, and they responded by working back upfield with the running game. Hurley kicked it to the Hope 20, and on the last play of the third period Roger Newton was smacked down at the 21. They traded ends, and immediately Artis Martin took a pitchout and followed the blocking of Gary Jones into the secondary.

Some downfield blocking allowed Martin to cut back at the 40, and with that cut he was run to paydirt. With 11:45 to go, Ronnie Massanelli rolled left and hit Lee Davis for two points, and the crowd sat stunned as the Bobcats led 8-7.

Gunn fumbled the ensuing kickoff, and fell on it at his own two-yard line for some awful field position. Anderson barely escaped a safety, and from the six Hurley went back to punt on 4th and six. The punt went high and short, and was downed at the Arkadelphia 30.

Hope had its best chance, and on another 3rd and six fullback Gary Jones bulled seven yards to a first down at the 19. Two runs by Martin got a first and goal at the nine, and Massanelli sneaked to the six.

Martin swept right end to the two, and with third down Jones bowled over for the second score. An eight-play drive covering 30 yards, and with 5:51 showing the 14-7 Hope lead when Ronny Brown's hurried PAT kick went wide right.

Those last six minutes were the trying time for the Bobcat defense, who had done a fine job on Vining and his receivers all night. They kept it up, and after a punt exchange Arkadelphia started at their 24 with 2:01 to play.

Vining threw eight yards to Sanders, then after two incomplete passes a personal foul infraction on the Badgers made it 4th and 17 at the 17. They made this one when Gunn took a screen and dashed to the 36, but two downs later Bobcat Randy Still intercepted again, this time at his own 35.

Happily Hope ran out the clock for the 14-7 win, but the mad hysteria of the large Hope crowd doubled in intensity when it was found that Malvern had beaten Fairview 24-20. That put Hope and Arkadelphia in a two-way tie for the 4-AA West title, and the Bobcat victory insured the playoff berth.

Besides Martin 205-yard out-punt, Massanelli ran ten times for 25 yards to lead the Bobcats. Nolan Smith went 17-54 and Murch carried 12 times for 45 to pace the Badgers.

Hope's offensive line, namely Lee Davis, David Still, Mike McQueen, Jim Alford, Ronny Brown, Larry McWilliams, and Randy Wright led the way for another 300-yard plus night by on Martin's power sweeps was unstoppable.

On defense, the Cats' three interceptions set a school record with 22 in the regular season, and Hope is the only team this season to hold Arkadelphia under 14 points in one game. An Arkadelphia assistant coach after the game commented that linebacker Larry McWilliams "ought to make All State, but others showing up well included the rest of the unit."

Those ten are Rusty Quillin, Jim Alford, Calvin Willis, Steve Harris, Ray Wheelington, Randy Still, Lynn Norton, Mike McQueen, Ronny Brown and Sidney Waller. Together they are the most-featured group in 4-AA, having allowed only 78 points in 12 games.

After the loss at Fairview, few people expected Hope to win the last five games. They have, and Coach Ronnie Higgins gets my vote for Coach-of-the-Year.

They must hold it together now for only five more days, through the Wednesday night 4-AA title bout with Eastern champion Camden, 19-0 victors over Smackover last night. And the Bobcats will.

Eddie Medor Is Player of the Week

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "If I hadn't made it I might be playing in Canada next week."

Eddie Medor, free safety of the Los Angeles Rams, was talking about the gamble he had taken Sunday at Franklin Field with the Rams trailing 10-0 in the third quarter of their game with the Philadelphia Eagles.

It was fourth and two on the Eagles' 17 and the Rams lined up in field goal formation. Medor, who holds for kicker Bruce Gossett, noticed that Philadelphia had shifted toward the left side of the Rams' line, preparing a rush.

"I told Gossett we were going to fake it," said Medor, "but none of the offensive linemen knew. I really rolled the dice this time. I got up and ran."

Medor made five yards and a vital first down on the Eagles' 12. In two plays the Rams were in for a touchdown and Medor was on his way to being named today the Associated Press' defensive player of the week in the National Football League. Randy Johnson, Atlanta quarterback, was named the offensive player of the week.

On the subsequent kickoff the Eagles got back to their 28. Tom Woodeshick made six and then fumbled on the next play. Medor recovered on the Eagle 28. Six plays later they made a field goal to tie the score, 10-10. Another kickoff and another bad break for Philadelphia. On the third offensive play, Norm Sneed passed, intended for Leroy Keyes, but Medor cut in front of him, grabbed the ball and ran 34 yards for the tie-breaking touchdown, 17-10.

In three big plays within a period of 4:15 in the third period, Medor had turned around a ball game. The Rams went on to make it nine in a row, 23-17.

Legs Slow But Goyette Finds Net

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The legs don't move with quite the zip they once did but Phil Goyette still can find the net.

Goyette, 36, took over the National Hockey League scoring lead Thursday night, scoring his 10th goal of the season and helping the St. Louis Blues to a 3-1 decision over the Minnesota North Stars.

In Thursday's only other NHL game, Philadelphia shaded Los Angeles 3-2. Goyette upped his point total to 31 in 16 games—two more than Bobby Orr of Boston. It's a remarkable comeback, considering that the shifty center was considering retirement.

Goyette, reduced to part-time work with New York last season because of injuries, managed just 45 points in 65 games for the Rangers. When New York sent him to the Blues in exchange for St. Louis' No. 1 amateur draft pick, Goyette contemplated retirement.

Frank St. Marseille scored two goals for the Blues while Claude Larose hit for Minnesota. Ernie Wakely made just 20 saves in the St. Louis nets as the Blues kept constant pressure on Cesare Maniago.

Jimmy Johnson broke a third-period tie with his first goal of the season and Philadelphia trimmed Los Angeles.

Billy Sutherland and Larry Hillman had scored early goals for the Flyers.

Rams Are Well Aware of Dallas Defense

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams, who will strive Sunday to keep their unblemished National Football League record intact, are well aware of the Dallas Cowboys' Domsday Defense.

That's the front defensive four which will provide comparisons with the Rams' Fearsome Four-some in Memorial Coliseum, a contest between the leaders of the Coastal and Capitol Divisions of the NFL.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—When Jim Dunaway, 6-feet-4, 277 pounds, and Mike Stratton, 6-feet-3, 241 pounds, run into an old friend, the next sound heard resembles the crash of a shattered chandelier.

Jim and Mike are defensive players for the Buffalo Bills. Among their sentimental pals is the quarterback for the New York Jets, Joe Willie Namath.

When the two teams play, Jim and Mike chase Joe all over the yard, trying like crazy to convey their salutations. Newspaper people, some traffic cops and autograph hounds know how hard Joe is to track down sometimes. Even old friends like Jim and Mike often find him inaccessible.

But when he is available, Jim and Mike bound upon him and paw him like impassioned St. Bernards.

And there is Namath in his sleek white shoes being

Hayes' Problems In San Diego Are Nothing New

Ralbovsky
By MARTY RALBOVSKY
NEA Sports Writer

THE DISCONTENT of Elvin Hayes is nothing new in San Diego. Last season, there was considerable internal turmoil on the team, much of it stemming from Hayes' insistence on getting the ball and his verbal dressings-down of teammates—guards, especially—when he didn't. . . . Owner Bob Breitbard had to meet with the club on several occasions to quiet things down and, finally, issued an ultimatum that players who complained to the press would be traded, or released, on the spot. . . .

Pro football's practice of releasing injury lists in mid-week is getting some heat. Some feel it helps the gambling elements and aids in the establishment of pregame point spreads. . . . But, as Jet coach Weeb Ewbank says, it is an invaluable aid to the coaches. "If we are certain an opposing player, especially a regular, will be out of the lineup," he says, "it changes our entire game plan for that particular Sunday." . . .

If the Cleveland Indians move after the 1970 season—their lease on Municipal Stadium expires then—don't be surprised if they wind up a couple hundred miles east on Route 90. . . . By 1971, Buffalo will have its new domed stadium completed in suburban Lancaster and its only tenant will be the AFL Bills. Houston's Roy Hofheinz is designing the stadium and his presence on the scene has encouraged city officials—who backed the stadium—that a big league franchise is imminent. . . .

Many consider South Carolina's Tom Riker the best sophomore in college basketball this season, but at Michigan State they have another candidate: Ralph Simpson, who played at Detroit's Pershing High with Spencer Haywood. A 6-foot-4 forward, Simpson averaged 40.3 a game as an MSU freshman last season. . . . Will Robinson, who coached them both in high school, says Simpson is a better all-around player. . . .

The New York Jets' defensive unit prefers playing in Shea Stadium for reasons of recognition, if no other. On the road, the offensive unit is always introduced before games—because, naturally, Joe Namath's introduction never fails to stir up a crowd. . . . Andy Robustelli's son, Rick, sophomore quarterback star at the University of Connecticut, isn't the only prodigy who has benefited from paternal coaching. . . . Lou Groza's son, Jeff, 17, already is the best place kicker in the history of Berea High School, outside Cleveland. . . .

Don't feel too sorry for Barry Kramer, the NYU All-American, whose comeback plans failed when he was cut loose by the ABA Nets. . . . He's got a law degree, a position with an upstate New York legal firm, and will go back to collecting anywhere between $100 and $200 a game with a barnstorming team there, which is enough to soothe anyone's ailing ego. . . .

Most interesting situation at Ohio State is the jockeying for the No. 2 quarterback spot behind Rex Kern. Ron Maciejowski had it last year, lost it to a converted defensive end, Kevin Ruskamp, and now may win it back after throwing two TD passes and running for over 100 yards against Wisconsin (Ruskamp also threw two touchdowns passes that game). . . . Since Ohio State has been piling up enormous early leads, the backup quarterbacks are playing as much as Kern. . . .

Although an ABA team couldn't make it there, the NBA would like to place one of its new expansion franchises in Houston. . . . Last year's doubleheader—which drew over 50,000 in the AstroDome—was a convincing test run. . . . The catch, of course, is obtaining the AstroDome for the team's home games. . . .

knocked down, then helped up by Jim and Mike. Words are exchanged. It looks chummy.

"It is," said Jim. "Joe's our pal."

"It's a marvelous time to socialize," said Mike. "We don't get to see Joe that often."

What do you talk about out there, after you've practically flattened him like a shadow?

"We tell him how much we appreciate what he's done for the league, and for football in general," said Mike. "I mean the Super Bowl and all. I think we all profited."

And when Namath is staggering after the play, and wondering if his knees are on backwards, what does he say?

"Good lick, or something like that," said Jim. "He'll always tell you if you've made a good play. He's a good, uh, Joe. I don't think anybody wants to hurt him. There are some quarterbacks you'd like to crack in half. They'll cuss you out, or their own linemen. And sometimes you have a friend who is a lineman on the other team. You figure you'll do him a favor by banging up that s.o.b. quarterback of his."

"There's a fine line between cracking a guy just at the whistle, or not hitting him. And then there's the fine line on how to hit him. We try to hit Joe high; it's less dangerous. Sure, there are times when it gets down to personality. Do you like the guy or not? But you never really want to hurt anyone. You just want to make sure he knows you exist."

"You can even joke with Joe on the field," said Mike. "He's always kidding me that he can beat me on a roll-out. I'm always telling him he'd better not try. I remember once he tried it, at the goal-line. And I hit him. I was there right on top of him and I said, 'Not this time, Joe.'"

"And he said, 'Look again, Mike.' It was a touchdown."

Namath has the reputation for being a very courageous football player, what with his wobbly knees and playing as hard and as much as he does. But do you think he's also wily enough to try to cultivate friendship among rival linemen?

"Sure, I think he tries to cultivate those kind of friendships," said Jim. "Wouldn't you?"

"But everyone tries to hit Joe," said Mike, "no matter how much they love him. Knocking Joe down is prestige."

To spread Joe on the ground like melted butter on toast is prestigious for a lineman for two reasons: first, only the Kohinor diamond receives greater protection than Namath; second, when one makes a noteworthy play against a New York team, the ensuing press acclaim is greater than anywhere else.

Pro Ramrods Like Roman And Kapp Getting Bigger

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Are quarterbacks in the National Football League getting bigger and brawnier?

In the NFL's biggest confrontation to date, between the Dallas Cowboys and the Los Angeles Rams in the L.A. Coliseum on Nov. 23, the opposing quarterbacks should indicate something. Roman Gabriel is 6-4 and weighs 220. The invaders' Craig Morton is 6-4 and 214.

And when the Rams entertain the goliath Minnesota Vikings a couple of weeks later, Gabriel's vis-a-vis will be Joe Kapp, 6-3 and 215.

Every pro scout scouring the country is looking for these over-proteinized specimens because the problem of visibility for pro quarterbacks is getting more acute as the size of linemen increases.

But is it a definite trend? Can a mere mortal of a six-footer still succeed?

You bet.

In fact, a comparison with quarterbacks of almost a decade ago reveals the startling fact there has been a relatively modest increase in physical growth of quarterbacks.

The average NFL starting quarterback in 1959 (there were 12 teams then) stood 6-1, weighed 198 pounds and was 29½ years old.

The average NFL starting quarterback in 1969 (there are 16 teams now) stands 6-4½, weighs 203 and is 29½ years old.

Actually, the quarterback average of a decade ago would have been equal in size to today's specimens if it hadn't been dragged down by the presence of Eddie LeBaron, Little Eddie, 5-7 and 165, was unique even in his own time.

The odd thing is that outside of Eddie, there wasn't an NFL starter in '59 who was shorter than 6-1. There are a half-dozen regular quarterbacks operating in the NFL today who measure in at an even six feet.

The smallest overall, at 6-0 and 190, are Fran Tarkenton of the New York Giants and Charley Johnson of the St. Louis Cardinals.

"They told me nine years ago," shrugs Tarkenton, "every quarterback would have to be 6-4. And here I am. Still."

It might be noted, though, that Messrs. Gabriel, Kapp and Morton have their teams convincingly on top of their respective divisions.

He Values the Pennant Over Title

By JIM CHURCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Without a doubt," says Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants, "it's the high point of my career. But if I could make a straight trade, I'd take a pennant."

That was the first baseman's reaction today when told that he had been voted the National League's most valuable player for the first time.

"It's the highest individual award a player can win," McCovey said, "I was hoping for it and I think every ball player has secret dreams of winning the award."

"As far as goals are concerned, there is nowhere else to go except to win a pennant and a World Series."

McCovey, in pain most of his 10th major league season from bone claps in a hip and an arthritic knee, was a major factor in the Giants' drive to second place in the NL Western Division.

Wants Loyalty Pledge Eased to Work of Famous Men for Democrats

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell and Ted Boswell of Bryant have asked Charles D. Matthews, chairman of the state Democratic party, to ease the loyalty pledge to restore law and order in this land. The American Bar Association could help if they were not blind to the realities, and seeking to dictate to the press what it can publish. — Lynchburg (Va.) News

In our world today we are indebted to so many for so much that makes our life more enjoyable. With Elias Howe's sewing machine and Cyrus McCormick's reaper, work for many became easier. We became a traveling nation, thanks to Robert Fulton, Henry Ford, and the Wright brothers. Then, Thomas Edison threw a lot of light on a number of activities.

But while we are spreading our thanks around, let's not overlook Arthur Wynne. Who was he, you ask? Your question shows how fast-fleeting fame can be.

Mr. Wynne, whose very name would serve to inspire contestants in any competition, was the one who edited a fun page of the New York World in 1913. In a last minute effort to fill out space on December 21 of that year, he invented a puzzle which he called a word-cross. Since then, no one has really been safe from this addictive vocabulary sport.

What we know as the crossword puzzle today is really a variation of the Roman puzzle known as an acrostic. In the Roman version, words were made up, usually from a well known poem, which matched both across and down. Wynne, however, added something extra. He placed different words across and down.

Not only was this intriguing puzzle to find its way into newspapers and magazines throughout the country, but also it would be the means by which two would-be publishers, whose names were Simon and Schuster, would launch a career.

The two young men were searching for something to publish, but they didn't know what. Then, in answer to a request for a book of crossword puzzles by someone who had a sick friend, Simon and Schuster set out to find suitable puzzles to make a book. They enlisted the aid of Margaret Petheridge, who had replaced Wynne at the New York World when he moved on to other editing fields.

They borrowed money for the venture, and in 1924 they brought out a little book of crossword puzzles that sold for $1.35. Their publishing success was assured when they tallied up their sales at the end of the year. They had sold 400,000 copies.

What is the fascination most people find in crossword puzzles? For some it is a means of mental stimulation while others feel that it is a chance to enlarge their vocabulary. Some psychologists say working crossword puzzles is a friendly kind of activity which brings folks closer together, for you're sure to need help on some odd 3-letter word one of these days.

A few weeks ago the daily puzzle in the Star did not arrive in time for publication. There was only one thing to do—aside from omitting the entire publication that day—and that was to print an explanation on page one. This was done and it served to smooth ruffled feathers, but only because the situation was rectified the next day.

Foreign Aid Trimmed, Not Battered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's first foreign aid bill has squeaked through the House, trimmed to $2.19 billion but not battered.

The action was packed into a nearly eight-hour session which ended Thursday night with a tense series of three roll call votes.

Enough Republicans rallied behind Nixon in the early fighting to ward off deeper cuts proposed by some of their own members. The President had asked for $2.6 billion for foreign aid.

When the day was over, the bill was sent to the Senate on a 176-163 vote. In addition to the spending ceiling for this almost half-gone fiscal year it also contains a nearly identical authorization for 1971.

But the final outcome appeared in doubt for a time as a bloc of liberal democrats delayed their voting in protest to cuts in development loans and a proposal to give Nationalist China $54.5 million for planes.

On final passage, 106 Democrats and 70 Republicans joined forces to vote for the bill which was opposed by 86 Democrats and 77 Republicans.

Dogpatch U.S.A. Receives Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said today that the Economic Development Administration has approved a $120,000 grant to expand the water system serving Dogpatch U.S.A. near Harrison.

Says Teachers Are Not Safe in Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — "It's just no longer safe for anyone black or white to teach here."

Ellen McGowan was a white teacher in predominantly Negro Melrose High School. She taught through several weeks of the school boycotts called by a black coalition, but when violence erupted, she was one of two white teachers at the school who resigned.

"I was standing by the door inside my room Tuesday and a rock came through the door window, missing me by inches," Mrs. McGowan said. "Then the windows were bombarded by rocks."

The other teacher who quit, James Patrick, summed up his reasons in a letter of resignation:

"I am exhausted by the frightened faces of well-meaning students and teachers, tired of reasoning with hoodlums holding bricks, or threats, of intimidation, of operating all day behind a locked classroom door, of having my car vandalized, my room broken into—but most of all . . . I am tired of not being able to teach."

The two resignations were announced Thursday by School Supt. E. C. Stimbart as more disorders erupted at predominantly Negro schools, forcing three to close. Police said 11 persons were arrested.

At the same time, Stimbart issued a directive to principals telling them in the future to call police at the first signs of trouble. "When outsiders try to disrupt schools, this is the only way we can maintain order," he said.

The black coalition, which has sponsored the school boycotts and street marches in its battle with the school board and a catholic hospital, denied any responsibility for the disorders. "We have never encouraged violence," said the Rev. Ezekiel Bell, head of the coalition.

Bell, who resigned as Memphis branch president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People when the NAACP called a 10-day moratorium in the boycott, said the boycott would not be ended until the coalition's goals are reached.

Another coalition leader, who asked that his name not be used, said the Thursday disruptions were caused by the presence of police, by locking students inside the schools, and by the discontinuance of lunches at some schools.

Resolution Is Passed

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A resolution calling for approval of Arkansas AM&N's application for membership in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference has been passed by Arkansas Tech's Student Senate.

The conference is to consider the application of the predominantly Negro college next month.

Astronauts Streaking for Home

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 12 moon explorers streaked homeward today as earth's gravity pulled their Yankee Clipper spaceship faster and faster toward Monday's splashdown.

Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr., Richard F. Gordon Jr. and Alan L. Bean, weary from their successful lunar excursions, were allowed to sleep as long as they liked.

They went to sleep shortly after firing a powerful rocket burst behind the moon Friday to break the lunar gravitational embrace and plunge earthward.

While they slept, the Yankee Clipper came under the dominance of earth's gravity. The spacecraft picked up speed and was to be 200,000 miles from earth by mid-morning today, moving at more than 2,000 miles an hour.

Apollo 12 will continue to gain speed until Monday afternoon when it sears into the earth's atmosphere at 36,000 miles an hour and parachutes to a landing in the Pacific Ocean near American Samoa.

On their 45th orbit of the moon, the astronauts fired their powerful rocket engine. The rocket firing occurred behind the moon and as the spacecraft reappeared it was fleeting homeward at more than 5,000 miles an hour.

Gravitational pull of the moon slowed it until about 10 p.m., EST, when the earth's gravity took hold and Apollo 12 started down hill toward home.

Conrad and Bean described their moon adventures during a final television close-up of the moon after they left its orbit.

Conrad said he landed so near the planned place that "I gave myself quite a thrill."

Bean said that walking in the reduced gravity of the moon's surface was a funny thing. "Your legs never seem to get tired," he said. "You assume some kind of normal pace and you're able to go for long distances without your legs getting tired."

"I found I couldn't walk," said Conrad. "Wherever we went we loped, and it just didn't seem natural not to lope."

Conrad said he fell down once during the 7½ hours he and Bean walked the moon's surface. "I didn't have any problem getting up," he said.

"Finally, to expedite things, we would just fall over on our backs, picking up rocks, and give ourselves a one-hand pushup, or just get down on our knees and get whatever it was we needed."

As the crew settled down for the night, ground controllers said, "Sleep in as long as you want . . . We're not going to awaken you in the morning."

High Court 'Balance' Is Promised

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says he will press his fight "to restore the proper balance" to the Supreme Court despite the Senate's 55-45 rejection of his nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.

But the President will wait until after Congress opens its new session in January to submit another nomination. Any nomination sent to the Senate this year would automatically lapse when the current session ends next month, unless confirmed before adjournment.

The vote Friday, which climaxed a bitter three-month struggle over judicial ethics and philosophy, was Nixon's most severe congressional defeat since he took office.

It is only the second time this century that the Senate has voted to reject a Supreme Court nomination. The last time was in 1939 when President Herbert Hoover's choice of Judge John J. Parker lost by two votes.

Joining 38 Democrats in voting against confirmation were 17 Republicans, including GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Assistant Leader Robert P. Griffin of Michigan.

Twenty-six Republicans voted to confirm Haynsworth's nomination, as did 19 Democrats. All the Democrats were southerners except Mike Gravel of Alaska and West Virginia's two senators, Robert C. Byrd and Jennings Randolph.

From his home in Greenville, S.C., Haynsworth said he would have to consider "whether my usefulness has been so impaired" that he would resign as chief judge of the U.S. 4th Court of Appeals. Haynsworth said he would not decide "in the emotion of the moment."

Nixon telephoned Haynsworth after the vote and told him he hoped he would stay on as chief judge of the appellate court.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., who directed the floor fight for the nomination, told reporters that in his judgment the 57-year-old jurist would have been confirmed if it had not been for labor opposition.

But Hruska said he thinks "the people realize it was a defeat for balance on the Supreme Court." The senator said it will be difficult to mount a successful campaign against another nominee with a conservative background.

Although Scott voted against Haynsworth's confirmation, the Republican leader said he would like to see Nixon name another southerner and a strict constructionist.

"The court needs balance," Scott said, and this also was the theme of a number of other Republican senators who voted against Haynsworth.

Labor leaders and civil rights forces waged an all-out fight against Haynsworth's nomination, and lobbyists for both groups were among the spectators in the packed galleries when the vote was taken.

Much of the criticism directed at Haynsworth in a week-long Senate debate, however, was over his failure to disqualify himself from ruling in cases in which opponents contended he had a financial interest in one of the parties.

While none of the senators accused him of dishonesty or of seeking to profit from his position on the bench, they said he had left an opening for an appearance of impropriety.

Optimism About U.S., Soviet Talks

HELSINKI (AP) — After two U.S.-Soviet meetings in Helsinki, there is cautious optimism among the Americans that the talks will lead to full-scale negotiations to curb the nuclear arms race.

At the Soviet Union's request, the secret strategic arms limitation talks, dubbed SALT, adjourned until Monday after Thursday's 100-minute session. By agreement, spokesmen for both sides have refused to make any report on progress of the talks so far except to give the time of the meetings.

Information By The Ton

Regardless of the degree to which electronic media provide often superficial news coverage of a few events, the American public when faced with the need for detailed knowledge turns to the more ample and thorough source supplied by its newspapers.

That is clearly evident in statistics in the files of the Newsprint Information Committee in New York, which cites the effect on use of newsprint following the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Some newspapers reported increases up to 25 percent in newsprint consumption, so eager were additional readers to get copies of the newspapers.

The Los Angeles Times used 830 tons more newsprint the week ended June 9 than in the previous week, a rise of 12.5 percent. One the day of the shooting — Wednesday, June 5 — consumption was 809 tons as against 514 on the previous Wednesday. In Philadelphia, the Inquirer and News used about 3,000 tons of newsprint in the week as against normal usage of about 2,400 tons.

This is merely one of the latest recurrences of a predictable sequence. Let something happen which strikes home to the interests of the people — from matters of state to vitaleconomic interests — and they turn for dependable news and interpretation to their newspapers. — Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle
